

Fee Schedule

Stage II Diagnostic Imaging Accreditation Scheme

Applicable from 15 April 2010 to 30 June 2011

Practice Size	A Accreditation against Entry Level Standards	B Accreditation against Full Suite of Standards
2 or less imaging practitioners	$545	$1,635
3 to 5 imaging practitioners	$645	$1,935
6 to 20 imaging practitioners	$765	$2,295
More than 20 imaging practitioners	$1,080	$3,240
Large comprehensive practice	By negotiation

QIP accreditation fees are all inclusive – there are no additional costs. All prices are inclusive of GST

A Guide to Understanding the Accreditation Fees:

Quality in Practice (QIP) is dedicated to making accreditation an easy and hassle-free process for your practice. Our fees are clearly articulated ensuring you know exactly how much accreditation will cost for your practice.

We do not charge any membership or registration fees for becoming your accreditation provider. There are no hourly fees or additional costs. The fees outlined above are payable once only during the relevant accreditation period – they are not annual fees.

The accreditation fee is payable only after you have registered and submitted your self-assessment to QIP using our online assessment tool, AccreditationPro. We will then forward you an invoice for the applicable accreditation fee.

DIAGNOSTIC IMAGING ACCREDITATION

Once payment is received, QIP will proceed with your desktop audit to ensure your practice receives accreditation in a timely manner. See below to identify which accreditation fee is applicable to your practice.

My practice is currently accredited under Stage I with QIP...

Your practice will automatically be granted accreditation for a period of two years ending 30 June 2012. QIP will forward you a Certificate of accreditation for this period. There is no fee incurred for this. Your practice is required to achieve accreditation against the Full Suite of Standards before 30 June 2012 (See column B above).

My practice is currently accredited under Stage I with another provider...

Transferring to QIP is free of charge and can be easily completed by calling QIP on 1300 888 329. You will be automatically granted accreditation for a period of two years ending 30 June 2012. Before this accreditation expires, you will need to be accredited against the Full Suite of Standards (see column B above).

My practice is applying for first-time diagnostic imaging accreditation ...

Your practice has the choice of accrediting against the Entry Level or Full Suite of Standards. The fee charged will depend on which version of Standards your practice chooses to be accredited against – the choice is yours.

Option 1: Choose to be accredited against Entry Level Standards. Accreditation against the entry level standards will remain valid for two years. The applicable accreditation fee in column A will be payable after you complete your self-assessment. Before your entry level accreditation expires after two years, your practice must then apply for and achieve accreditation against the Full Suite of standards. At this time the fee in column B will be payable.

Option 2: by-pass Option 1 and choose to be accredited against the Full Suite of Standards. Accreditation against the Full Suite of standards will be valid for four years and incur the applicable fee in column B. Practices will need to be re-accredited every four years from the anniversary date of accreditation. A new fee will be payable with each re-accreditation.

My practice is part of a group with multiple sites...

Corporate groups with three or more sites are invited to contact QIP on 1300 888 329 for an individual quote.

My practice is an AGPAL accredited General Practice...

As a valued client, QIP would like to offer all AGPAL accredited practices considerable savings on their diagnostic imaging accreditation. Contact us for more information.

Payment options

QIP offers a variety of payment options to suit your needs including cheque, direct deposit, and credit card.

At QIP we realise that calculating how much accreditation will cost for your practice can be confusing. We are happy to assist. Call QIP on 1300 888 329 for a personalised quote.